ALL KIDS CAN SUCCEED:

Effective Interventions for Behavioral and Social Challenges

Friday, October 23, 2015

9:00 am – 4:30 pm

The Pullo Family Performing Arts Center at Penn State University
1031 Edgecombe Avenue, York, PA 17403

Students on the autism spectrum and those with behavioral challenges often present with difficulty regulating their feelings and interacting socially. This workshop describes how to handle meltdowns and design effective behavior plans to prevent these moments and reduce frustration and anxiety.

The second part of the presentation details strategies to motivate students to learn, ways to teach social skills, how to generalize skills into the natural setting and increase acceptance and tolerance from peers. Information will be imparted through lecture, interactive exercises, and video clips.

Participants Can Expect:

1. To understand the reasons for social skill deficits and disruptive behaviors.
2. To learn strategies to deal effectively with meltdowns and be able to put together an effective behavior plan to prevent frustrations.
3. To learn ways to motivate verbal and non-verbal students to want to socialize.
4. To learn several strategies for teaching and generalizing skills.
5. To learn how to create programs for typical peers to accept students with disabilities, reduce bullying and model positive behaviors.

Jed Baker, Ph.D. is the director of the Social Skills Training Project. He is on the professional advisory board of Autism Today, ASPEN, ANSWER, YAI, the Kelberman Center and several other autism organizations.
